

JourneyMate

The personal and leadership development layer of Project Meridian — giving every Ricoh Thailand employee a private space to reflect, grow, and lead confidently through change.

PROJECT MERIDIAN

What JourneyMate Does

Coaching for Everyone, Not Just the Top Layer

JourneyMate brings scalable, AI-driven coaching to all 2,000 Ricoh Thailand employees — in a way that fits Thai culture, Ricoh's values, and the realities of a Japanese-Thai organization.

Personal Growth

Private 1-on-1 coaching for every employee, at every level

Group Reflection

Structured team conversations at events and offsites

Leader Insight

Aggregate data that proves engagement — without exposing individuals

Safe & Scalable

Privacy-first design, ready for all 2,000 staff from day one

Everyday 1-on-1 Coaching at Scale

Every employee gets a private, text-based coaching experience — confidential, always available, and built around their personal goals.

→ Private Conversations

One question at a time, focused on challenges, goals, and next steps — fully confidential.

→ Always On

Available before a customer visit, after a tough meeting, or whenever a staff member needs support — no waiting required.

→ Remembers the Journey

JourneyMate carries key themes and commitments forward across sessions, so growth builds over time — not from scratch each time.

Meridian Objective

Scalable, low-friction leadership and self-awareness development for the whole workforce — not just the top layer.

Why It Matters

Traditional coaching reaches only a handful of leaders. JourneyMate removes the bottleneck — every person on the floor gets the same quality of reflective support as a senior manager, without increasing the load on HR or L&D teams.

Diamond Day: Group Reflection That Energizes Events

At townhalls and offsites, JourneyMate turns every table into a structured, high-energy coaching conversation — with clear outcomes visible to the whole room.

Table-Level Conversations

JourneyMate guides each table as a group — speaking to "your team," never singling out an individual.

Clear, Shareable Outcomes

Each table finishes with a title, one key insight, and one commitment in their own words — ready to display on the main screen.

No One on the Spot

Contributions flow through the group, preserving face and encouraging honest participation in a culturally comfortable way.

Diamond Day

Visible proof of value in a single event.

Diamond Day creates a low-risk moment where transformation becomes tangible — modelling the reflection habits Ricoh needs for the long road ahead.

Voice Coaching That Feels Human

For employees — especially senior leaders — who think better out loud, JourneyMate offers a fully voice-based coaching option that feels like a real conversation.

Speak, Don't Type

Employees can talk to JourneyMate and hear a natural voice respond — no typing required, no robotic feel.

Choose Your Coach Voice

Warm, clear, steady, energetic, or gentle — people pick the tone that works best for them.

Sensitive to Tone

The system detects signals like frustration or uncertainty and adjusts — slowing down, asking more reflective questions, or softening its language in response.

 Meridian Objective: Increases adoption across generations and comfort levels — especially for leaders who prefer conversation over typing, and employees less comfortable with written reflection.

Speak Naturally

No forms, no menus — just talk. JourneyMate listens and responds in full sentences.

Personalized Tone

Five coaching personalities ensure the experience never feels one-size-fits-all.

Emotionally Aware

Voice signals shape each response — so the coaching always meets people where they are.

Designed for Thai and Japanese-Thai Realities

JourneyMate's coaching style is built around the cultural dynamics that shape how people at Ricoh Thailand communicate, reflect, and grow.

Gentle, Question-Led Style

JourneyMate invites reflection rather than lecturing. This fits Thai preferences for indirect feedback and preserving harmony — no confrontation, no judgment.

A Safe Space for Honesty

With no face to lose in front of an AI, employees can share concerns, mistakes, and ideas more candidly than they might with a manager.

Building Horenso & PDCA Habits

Over time, employees practice structured reflection, clearer reporting, and follow-through — exactly the habits Japanese management expects and values.

Cultural Design Principle

"Because there is no face to lose with an AI coach, employees can be more candid about concerns, mistakes, and ideas than they might be with their manager."

This quiet honesty is the foundation for the communication and follow-through that bridges Thai teams with Japanese leadership expectations — the cultural bridge at the heart of Project Meridian.

Making Growth a Daily Habit

JourneyMate uses engagement tools that turn one-off development into an ongoing practice — especially effective with younger, digitally native staff.

Points & Streaks

Employees earn points for each coaching activity and track consecutive days or weeks of reflection.

Visible Milestones

Named growth stages and small achievements recognise commitment and mark progress over time.

Team Challenges (Coming Soon)

Departments will set friendly coaching goals and celebrate reaching them together.

Insight for Leaders, Safety for Everyone

HR and leadership see the big picture — without ever seeing individual conversations.

- High-level dashboards show usage, trending topics, and engagement over time
- Diamond Day summaries surface key themes and table commitments after each event
- Future: impact view connects coaching engagement to retention, engagement scores, and internal mobility

For the CCO & President

Hard Evidence That People Are Engaging With the Transformation

2,000

Employees Reached

Whole-workforce coaching from day
one

0

Individual Conversations
Exposed

Full psychological safety preserved

1

Event to Prove Value

Diamond Day delivers visible outcomes immediately

JourneyMate gives leadership a real-time view of transformation momentum — topic trends, engagement rates, and event outcomes — all without compromising the trust that makes people use it honestly.

Ready to Scale Safely Across Ricoh Thailand

JourneyMate is built to roll out to all 2,000 staff with confidence — privacy-first, compliance-ready, and designed to grow with Ricoh's ambitions.

Simple to Manage

Centrally managed accounts with clear admin and HR roles

Privacy by Design

Access controls, audit logs, and consent flows aligned with Thailand's PDPA requirements

Region-Ready

Thai and Japanese coaching options on the roadmap, supporting Ricoh's broader Asia strategy

JourneyMate + Project Meridian: The Full Picture

JourneyMate isn't a standalone tool — it's the human engine inside Project Meridian, quietly building the habits, confidence, and cultural bridges that make transformation stick.

Employee Experience

- Private, always-on coaching
- Culturally safe reflection
- Voice and text options
- Growth habits built over time

CCO & President Outcomes

- Visible engagement data
- Proof of transformation activity
- Event-level insight from Diamond Day
- A platform ready to scale — and offer to clients